

Medical Reserve Corps of Boulder County volunteers are invited to attend.

Healthcare Leadership Training Course

Center for Domestic Preparedness

December 7-13, 2008
Anniston, Alabama

National Health Professions Preparedness Consortium (NHPPC).

The Healthcare Leadership and Administrative Decision Making course is a 4-day, 32-hour course that provides healthcare responders an opportunity to address realistic decisions regarding an all-hazards disaster in a facility-based exercise. The course combines lectures and exercises to provide responders with a foundation on which to make critical decisions during the fast-paced final exercise.

IS-100, IS-200 and IS-700 certifications are required for the class.

For an application, contact Koral O'Brien, CDPHE, at 303.692.2782, or koralo@smtpgate.dphe.state.co.us

Highlights

- Decision-making in a disaster
- ICS, NIMS, and Hospital Incident Command System in a healthcare facility
- Integrated Emergency Management System
- Personal protective equipment and decontamination procedures
- Media and public information medical reserve corps

of Boulder County

Prepare, Respond, Volunteer

Boulder County Public Health
3450 Broadway
Boulder, CO 80304
303-413-7561
www.BoulderCountyMRC.org

L. Cheryl Runyon: 303.413.7561
lrnyon@bouldercounty.org